

Dentons Global Advisors rebrands to DGA Group

Advisory firm enters a new chapter as it celebrates its three-year anniversary and strong growth

June 5, 2024 – Dentons Global Advisors, the expert-led advisory firm, and Dentons, the world’s largest global law firm, have announced the rebranding of Dentons Global Advisors to “DGA Group.” Since its founding in June 2021, DGA Group has grown to more than 300 employees, expanded to 12 global offices and extended its advisory capabilities to six core business lines. Throughout this period of growth, the business was independent and licensed its brand name from Dentons. Today’s announcement marks the end of the brand licensing agreement and better reflects DGA Group’s independence.

“As we have grown and diversified, we felt that now is the time for a brand that reflects our independence and the full scope of what we offer,” said Edward Reilly, CEO of DGA Group. “The new DGA Group name signifies a new chapter, one where we leverage our expertise across a broad range of advisory services to empower our clients on a global scale. We are energized by this evolution and eager to continue exceeding expectations under our new name.”

“We are deeply proud of the partnership we launched with Dentons Global Advisors in 2021 in the midst of a global pandemic, a reflection of our commitment to being at the forefront of client needs,” said Elliott Portnoy, Global CEO of Dentons. “In three short years we have seen DGA Group grow across multiple continents and we look forward to continuing to collaborate on shared client engagements.”

DGA Group is an independent strategic advisory firm that helps clients protect—and grow—what they have built by navigating and shaping global policy, reputational and financial issues. Anchored by its foundational partner Albright Stonebridge Group, the worldwide team has served clients facing complex opportunities and challenges in more than 120 countries.

DGA Group:

- Operates offices in Beijing, Berlin, Brussels, Dubai, London, Mexico City, New Delhi, New York, Paris, Shanghai, Singapore and Washington, DC;
- Has a diverse culture and entrepreneurial mindset with more than 300 experts and 135 senior advisors; and
- Extends its global reach through the DGA Network, our affiliate network.

DGA Group recently announced several new partners including Raphaël Delli in Brussels; Joerg Wuttke and Spencer Boyer in Washington, DC; Anuradha Das Mathur and Bipul Kiran Singh in New Delhi; and May Loh in Singapore.

“While our roots remain firmly planted in the values and principles that have guided us thus far, rebranding to DGA Group marks the beginning of an exciting new phase of growth,” added Mr. Reilly. “We are grateful to Dentons for the support they provided as we launched and will continue to collaborate when clients seek our combined services.”
